3 Marketing

3.1 Market Research

Our market research has shown that cloud-based CRM services will continue to gather popularity. Cloud is an increasingly popular technology in today's market, especially with the influx of mobile devices and roaming data.

Our research also shows that customers prefer a clean, customisable interface on which to interact with CRM software. Again with mobile devices this is especially important with screen real-estate being a premium.

Social Networking is a great tool to provide our customers to better communicate across the whole CRM system and with their customers. A large social presence is key to being successful.
